

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A reflector includes a pair or plural pairs of array antennas. Each array antenna is formed of an arrangement of a plurality of antenna elements formed on a surface of a waveguide. The array antennas are placed parallel to each other. Both ends of each array antenna pair are connected through a pair of waveguides. Information adding devices are inserted in the waveguides.